

Tips and facts for enjoying the Arizona Aloha Festival:

1. Take public transportation. Try Metro Light Rail! It's a short block away and no stress about looking for a parking space. (Check our Location & Map webpage for links to Light Rail and parking maps.)
2. Remember where you parked. (Don't laugh, you'll thank us later.)
3. Sodas and bottled water are a fundraiser to help keep Festival free and are just $1.00. Don't believe the signs you see outside the park.
4. We strongly urge pets to stay at home due to the crowds. Except for service animals, of course. While some pets can handle things with 'aloha spirit', others cannot and you are responsible for any consequences, including picking up after them.
5. Sorry - no beach umbrellas, pop-up tents or other temporary structures at the Arizona Aloha Festival at Tempe Town Lake due to safety issues. Bring an umbrella (or other item that is no taller than you are when sitting down) to respect others trying to see the stage too. Find the ramada next to the Discovery Stage to hang out a while.
6. This is a no-alcohol event: Sneaking in alcohol will get you escorted out.
7. Yes, there are ATMs on site if you run out of cash for the temptations in our wonderful Island Marketplace or delicious tasty tidbit in the Local Grinds Food Courts.
8. Sorry, no bikes, skateboards or rollerblades within the event. Laid-back walking and relaxing is the way to go.
9. Even at the beach you can suffer from dehydration and sunburn: drink lots of fluids and wear sun block.
10. Find an event map, vendor list for shopping and food, family activities locations, schedules and more in our free Program at the Information Booth!
11. Manners matter. You're invited to a private party. Unacceptable behavior as determined by event management may lead to being asked to leave by our friends in the Tempe Police Department.
12. Weapons? We don't think so, just come to soak up the aloha spirit and have fun.
